

Volunteer Reserve Assistant - Forsinard

Region: North Scotland
Where: Forsinard Flows nature reserve

When:
Commitment:

Why We Want You: We require volunteer help in the areas of habitat management, reserve maintenance and visitor services. All tasks are vital for conservation of the site and for retaining good access to, and around the reserve.

What's In It For You: To work as part of the reserve team and learn more about the reserve. The opportunity to build skills and knowledge
This is an excellent chance to make a genuine contribution to wildlife conservation. You will gain a valuable insight into the workings of Europe's largest conservation charity.

Requirements: Enthusiasm and an interest in conservation are essential. A variety of skills are needed from surveying, research, habitat management, estate maintenance and administration. A good level of fitness is essential. You will need an up-to-date tetanus injection and to enjoy working in a team.

Notes: Appropriate training will be provided and expenses will be reimbursed where necessary.